Dear Folks:

About seven years ago - on June 25, 1928 it seems to me, I attended a family reunion of members of the Halla family held in Wisconsin. I made a promise at that time to the group there that I would try to compile a record of the family beginning with Christian and Johanna Halla, such a record, or family tree, was completed within the following year. Inclosed is a copy of such family tree.

At the time I first mentioned such a family tree I pointed out that the job would be just partly done and of no particular benefit to the many in the whole group when only the first two or three copies were made. I made it plain that it would cost more than any one or two people of the group could very well stand to get out a hundred or more required copies. Since then I have tried to get different ones interested in helping to finance getting a larger number made and mailed out but without success. The times have been too hard I guess.

So, a short time ago, realizing that the years are quickly slipping by, I thought that about the only way to get this to you folks was to finance it myself and trust that out of the kindness of your hearts you would not see me lose by so doing. To have this made up in numbers in the form you find it cost me $39.00 actual cash. This is charging not a penny for gas, postage, time etc. required to compile the original copy. In other words, it actually cost me over $39.00 to get this to you after the first copy was made.

Unless you have done some of this kind of work you cannot realize the amount of labor required or the expense involved. Also, it took time and effort on the part of a few others who so kindly helped and made it possible.

This is my proposition. Send me a dollar for your inclosed copy. Additional copies will also be one dollar each until I get back what it has cost me to get this to you in actual money. If you, each one, will make a pledge with yourself to send me this dollar at once you will do your share to pay the $39.00 of cost. If you should make a mistake and send me more than a dollar for your copy, there will be no harm done. As soon as I get back the $39.00, you may have other copies as long as they last for 15 cents, the amount of postage required to get them to you. I am just asking to be repaid for actual cash spent for a good cause, in which you each are as much interested as I am. You will play fair with me I am sure.

I would like to have made the tree more complete, but at that I did my best. Study the construction of it carefully and it will be more interesting to all. In a few places you will have to make additions and corrections. I trust that you will like it and that, as the years come and go, it may help to bring more members of the family of Halla together.

Very truly yours,
Henry Halla

The preceeding is a word for word copy of the letter sent to the members of the Halla clan by Henry Halla when he distributed the results of his family research in the early 1930s. There must be many of the original charts left about in the Halla clan, I am wondering how many of the letters are still in existance.

"As a boy, I remember my Father working on this family tree - (during the great depression) - and my impression was that he worked hard and enthusiastically. With a few exceptions, my impression was that the response and help from the others was not great." This is from a letter from Robert A. Halla, a son of Henry Halla.

The first time that I was aware of the chart was about 1950 when my Father, Leslie P. Ireland, showed me his copy. At that time I was not particularly moved by it, being only 16 years of age. Genealogy, or tracing one's lineage, was not as popular then as it has been in the past several years.

Shortly before Dad's death in 1971, he started to reminisce about his father, Ovando, and how he had moved from the state of Maine to Oshkosh, Wis., about the year 1880. Ovando was 60 years old and married to his third wife, Christina Halla, when Dad was born. Ovando fathered another son, Francis Marion, in his 62nd. year, 1899, and passed away in 1903, so neither of the sons really got to know much of their father. Christina moved to Kenosha in 1903 and ran a boarding house for many years before passing on in 1931.

When I learned that my grandfather Ovando had been born in Maine, I got curious and started to search for information and reasons of when and why he came to Wisconsin. As Ovando had been married three times and had children by each of his wives, I decided to write to Maine to try to contact someone from a previous marriage, possibly still living in the area. I had heard of the town of Corinna, Maine, from an aunt of mine who had exchanged Christmas greetings with some of the relatives in that part of the country many years before. I wrote to the postmaster of Corinna asking to be put in touch with anyone with the name of Ireland in the community, if there were any. Would you believe that one of the rural mail carriers was a great grandson of Ovando from his first wife?

We corresponded and exchanged information on the Irelands for some time. Oscar Ireland, the mail carrier, sent me the name of a grandson of Ovando's from his second wife. This was a man by the name of Paul Jerome, who owns a manufacturing plant in Detroit, Mich. It seems that in the 1940s, Mr. Jerome had paid a professional genealogist to do an Ireland family history. Mr. Jerome sent me a copy of the finished product that shows the Ireland line traced back to the late 1650s when William Ireland first came to the American shores. All the facts are verified as to their source.

From the mail carrier, I learned that Ovando had been in the furniture business in Maine when a fire destroyed his store. Not having the money to resume his furniture venture, he started selling insurance for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., and later for the Banker's Life Insurance Co. It was the insurance business that sent Ovando to Oshkosh as an agent. Ovando's second wife, Marcia A. Tuck, died in 1893, and he married Christina Halla in Nov. of 1894.

I knew the approximate dates of Hans and Anna Hallas deaths, (the parents of Christina), although I didn't know where they passed away or where they were interred. I wrote several letters to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics in Madison, but they were no help at all in locating them. About 1974 or 1975 my wife, son, and I took a run up to the Shawano and Oconto Counties, Wis., area to start looking for their graves. After asking around in the towns of Clintonville and Green Valley vicinity for a day and a half, we finally located a small Lutheran cemetery just a few miles east of Pulcifer where we found the graves and obtained the definite dates. To this day I have not been able to obtain copies of their death certificates or obituaries.

From a few of the people I talked to while searching for Hans and Anna's graves, I learned the names of a couple of Halla relatives in the area. I started with these relatives to begin my project. I wrote to them and explained what I wanted to do and asked for their connection with the Hallas and for the dates of birth, marriage, death, children and for the names of other living Halla relatives and addresses. This mushroomed into over 90 different correspondents in all.

Therefore, here starts my project, that of bringing the original Halla Family Tree chart up to date. I started in January of 1978 and hoped to have enough to put everything together by the end of the year. That was too much to have hoped for as I encountered the same trouble as Henry Halla did with his search, a lack of cooperation with a good number of people, however, there were a good many people who went to the other extreme to be helpful by sending me new leads to out of state and out of touch relatives.

As much as I would have liked to carry the actual tree concept further with the later generations, I found that it would be too much to try to enter into any type of booklet, and that with the succeeding generations overlapping each other, it would be very difficult to follow and keep straight. Therefore, I took each of the six children and carried their lines separately to the present.

All of the information contained in this work came directly from you, the Hallas and related families. You will probably find mistakes here and there but I did the best I could. When I came across two different dates from two different sources and couldn't get a verification from either source, I used the date from the nearest relative to the date involved or used both dates with a question mark.

There's always a chance for errors in translation or typing, but I double checked everything before typing my finish copy. If you find an error that you are sure that you have a correct date for, I would like to know about it, but please, only if you have something such as a document to prove it. I don't want to replace one mistake with another.

If you have information on Hallas or related lines that should be in this but aren't, I would like to know about that also. If I get enough response to this I just may revise it and update it. I thought about including photos of the earlier ancestors but could only come up with a very few of them. They would cost a minimum of $3.00 each to include and that would have raised the cost of the final product too much to offset what few pictures I could have included. Again, if I can come up with enough photos and encouragement and a guarantee I could make an updated and expanded version with photos and obituaries pay for itself, I would be tempted to give it a try.

With all of the frustrations encountered while doing this, I still thoroughly enjoyed the challenge. It seems as if every time I would start thinking of giving up the entire project, I would get a letter from someone with a complete history of a particular line of three or four generations or someone would put me in touch with a couple of different enthusiastic people offering to help. Now that I have gone as far as what I could in more time than what I had originally allowed myself, I still feel pleased with my results and happy that I saw this through.

About Bruce W. Ireland

I was born here in Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 8, 1934. My mother had been married before and had a son, Billy A. Thompson and a daughter, Lois E. Thompson. When her first husband was killed in 1933, she married my father, Leslie P. Ireland, who had worked with her husband as house lathers for many years. As Dad was a carpenter by trade he seemed to always be building something in the garage or basement for customers or neighbors. I used to enjoy watching him work and smelling the odor of fresh sawed lumber. To see the finished cabinet or whatever product he was making at the time used to thrill me and I had ambitions of being a carpenter also.

When I was nine or ten years old I started saving pennies in a cigar box. It took me a couple of years to fill it and when I got ready to turn them in to the bank I noticed several older dates among them. I picked them out and decided to see how many different dates I could come up with. That started my first hobby, collecting coins. I kept that hobby up until it got to the point where I was wanting to spend several hundred dollars to obtain a single coin to add to my set of a particular series.

I was getting towards the end of high school and starting to talk more about learning the carpenter trade when Dad had several talks with me against it. At that time, in the late 1940s, the building trades were very seasonal, usually April thru November or so. There was little or no work at all during the winter months except for what small odd jobs that could be done in the basement. There were no retirement benefits, no seniority system as known today and no unions.

In 1952 I was the first of either side of the family to graduate from high school, Mary D. Bradford. I had made it through with average grades. I had thought of trying to go on to either a vocational school in town or to the new technical school that had just opened but with no encouragement from my parents I hired in at American Motors Corp! in Sept. of 1952. I have worked in the engine division, crankshaft department ever since.

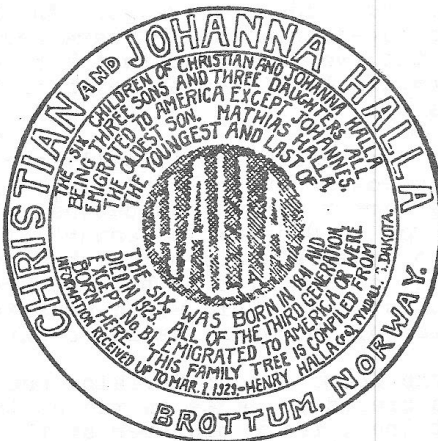

In 1956 I joined the Army Reserve for a six year enlistment, with six months active duty being spent at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. After basic training I attended an eight week course in wheeled vehicle mechanics training. When I finished that, all of the Ft. Leonard Wood motor pools were filled with mechanics so I was put into an engineering unit and given the job of assistant company carpenter. I spent most of my time scrounging materials to build latrines for field problems and building dog houses for the company officers.

I met my wife, Joyce, in 1958. She also worked at A.M.C. in the mail department delivering mail and interdepartmental messages by bicycle. One of her stops was right in front of the machine I was operating. In March of 1959 we were married and in August of 1961 our only child, David, was born. Needless to say my coin collecting hobby was put on the shelf with the exception of an occasional trade here and there.

Now David is done with his first year at college and I am still balancing crankshafts at A.M.C. In September of 1982, I will be eligible for full retirement benefits, but I'll still be helping David thru college so I'm not sure when I'll retire.

I always did enjoy going pheasant and rabbit hunting with Dad as a kid and I still enjoy putting on a pair of waders and sloshing around through a marsh looking for ducks. Another fascination of mine is antique automobiles. I don't have one as yet but hope to be able to purchase one to putter around with a few years down the line.

When I do retire I'll probably start off on another line of one of my ancestors and try to do a booklet on them. Still have a yearning to work with wood and as I have all of Dad's woodworking tools I'll probably venture into that also. I still enjoy the smell of freshly sawed lumber.

NORWAY

Norway has a history of unrest, turmoil and strife since it's formation during the Ice Age. The country took shape when the ice masses split the mountains forming fjords and ravines and leveling down the hills of the great plateau.

By 500 B.C. the land already had a people dwelling there. These people made crude iron tools from the areas ore deposits and herded small flocks. Due to the severity of the winters, the people had to more or less stay in one place throughout the year to provide for their animals.

The Vikings made themselves known from the mid 700s to the mid 1000s with their forages and raids to the small shoreline communities. Christianity arrived and survived throughout various social conflicts, growing pains with neighboring countries, reformation growth, wars, etc.

The development of Norway was extremely slow between 1800 and 1840. Around 1840 tho, there was a rapid change of events which brought the people of Norway into focus with the rest of the European advancement socially, economically and culturally. The country was striving to catch up with and stay even with her neighboring countries. There was a feeling of inner pride within the people who were surging ahead and making themselves known.

However, during the reign of Karl XV, 1859 - 1872, Norway was in a state of inner conflict. The Finmark boundary between Russia and Norway had never been clearly defined after the Crimean War and some areas were jointly held by the two.

The rest of Europe had an interest in this situation also. In the "November Treaty of 1855", England and France guaranteed against Russian aggression not only in Norway, but also of Sweden's lands as well. This did not help the feelings between Russia and Norway at all and only succeeded in bringing the Norwegian and Swedish people closer together although there were conflicts in the constitutions of the two countries that had to be ironed out. The two countries formed a Committee on Revision to try to work out their differences.

Russia was flexing her muscles politically and militarily by staging raids into the Scandinavian boundaries. Before Norway and Sweden had a solid agreement worked out between themselves, Prussia and Austria declared war on Denmark in January of 1864. Karl XV of Norway wanted to go to Denmark's aid but without the support of Sweden or the Committee of Revision of both countries, neither of the countries sent assistance. This was a crushing blow to the hopes of a solidization of the Scandinavian countries.

Finally in 1867, the Committee on Revision completed their report. Both countries seemed to agree on the contents of the pact which stipulated that the foreign minister of the pact had to be a Swede. After four years when the pact was up for final ratification in 1871, the Norwegian ministers must have had afterthoughts and violently voiced their opposition of having to have a Swede as the foreign minister. The pact was turned down by a 92 to 17 vote. Thus the movement that may have helped to unite the two countries only launched a policy of self-assertion within Norway and made them strive to be a more independent nation.

With all the distress of the years of unrest, many people from all levels of society turned to a more serious personal religion. Missionaries were beginning to circulate spreading their various interpretations of the bible and creating a number of extreme fanatical movements. This only grouped the people against each other according to their ideas of what the bible really said and added to the confusion of the times.

The majority of Norway's population, or 90%, was still rural. The 1850s and 1860s marked an unprecedented advance in agriculture. Agricultural schools became popular and advanced methods were shared by the farmers. Railroads were introduced in 1855.

With the coming of progress and advancement within Norway, the people became more transcient. The rural people were going into the cities to get industrial work. The new roads Norway was building stimulated tourist traffic and invited travel within the country. People were aware of changing and wider horizons in their futures.

Taking ideas and knowledge of industry from England, Norway started developing it's economic and self-supporting systems. One of the more important industries was that of textiles. A few breweries were built. Power was obtained from the many waterways and small communities sprung up along the rivers. With the expansion of trades, the lumber business was greatly expanded to meet the needs of building materials. The fishing industry was doubled between 1840 and 1880. Shipping expanded and by 1870 only Great Britain and the United States had a merchant marine larger than that of the Norwegians.

The land available was inadequate for the growing population. Old homesteads were broken up into smaller farms, sometimes too small to support a family. People were feeling uncomfortable and crowded with the drastic changes, not only because of the loss of opportunities in agricultural fields, but also because of the economic, religious, social and political changes in the country.

America was beginning to come into it's own as a nation. Norwegians as early as 1825 had left for the new land. There was a small stream of emigrants from 1836 until the 1850s when a larger number began to leave. The end of the Civil War in America came just as the restlessness in Norway was reaching it's peak. Norwegians heard of the opportunities available to them in the new country. Here was a place for them to expand their lives. The years between 1866 to 1870 spurted the first great period in nineteenth century Norwegian emigration.

BRØTTUM

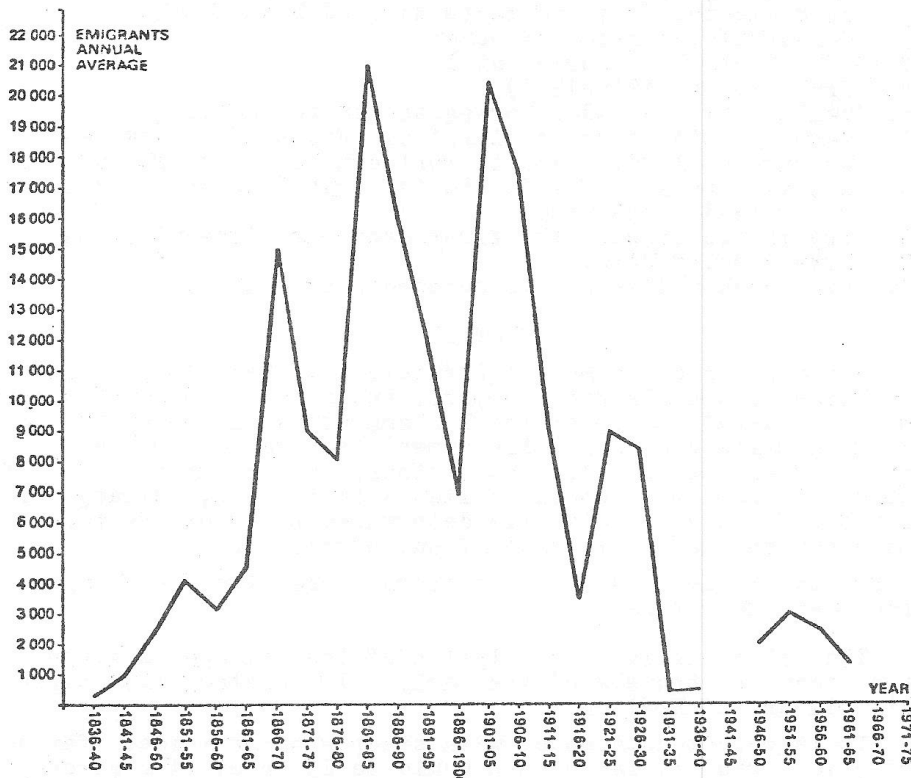

According to Niels Moen's Brøttumboka, there is a Halla nedre (lower), a Halla øvre (Upper), and a Halla norde (Northern) farm. On a detailed map of the Lillehammer area, (Brøttum is about five miles south of Lillehammer), two Halla farms are shown about a half mile from each other, and two miles north of Brøttum. Between the two farms lies a small lake, Hallatj. I have not been able to definitely determined which of the two farms shown on the map is that of our particular Hallas.

Brøttum is located on the eastern shore of a long finger shaped lake, Lake Mjosa.

(The following is a description of the village as given to the woman who translated the early Halla history from Nils Moen's history of Brøttum)

"It is very mountainous, with steep winding roads; farms average 12 acres - a large farm would be 25 acres; the government tells you how much land can be used for a building site - hence the buildings are built close together.

From the booklet "So Deep Are My Roots" by Bent Vanberg

In the old days people in Norway were identified by their Christian name and their father's name: Olav Hakonsen (or Hakons-son, -son) ie. the son of Hakon; Sigrud Hakonsdatter (or -datter), the daughter of Hakon. In addition a third name was very often used, usually a farm name. This "surname" did not necessarily tell anything about family or relationship. It signified the dwelling place. When the farmer Ole Olsen Li moved from Li to another farm, e.g. Dal, he was called Ole Olsen Dal. A farm laborer could be named in the same way, without being kin of the farmer. A tenant farmer (husmann) too, was very often recorded in the official registers under the name of the farm to which his little home belonged.

The oldest heraldic marks in Norway was the one belonging to the leading Duke, Skule, from around 1225. Later these personal marks became hereditary and gradually encompassing all the branches of the families which thereby manifested themselves as nobility, supported through special royal letters from the ruling monarchs.

As coats of mails and visors disappeared as victims of more sophisticated warring, the emblems began to show up on documents, paintings, sculptures, ex libris, etc.

A singular Norwegian contribution to the medieval marks is the "bumerke" of Norwegian farms. These marks assisted illiterate farmers in "signing" any kind of deed or other documents of a binding nature. The old Norwegian proverb "Arbeidet adler mannen" ("Labor ennobles the man") may very properly be applied to the value of these "bumerker". Any family researcher should make a point of finding out if any "bumerke" shows up in the records. If so, the researcher may proudly deem himself -- or herself indeed very lucky.

The book "Brøttumboka" is a history of the people of the town of Brøttum and written by Niels Moen. The book was published in Hamar in 1965. On page 557, under the heading of Halla øvre we find the mark, or "bumerke" of our particular Halla line as follows:

The so called bumerker, used to mark tools and as signets and signatures, are not coats of arms. Their initials, however, can sometimes help to solve genealogical problems.

The following from a letter dated Feb. 27, 1933, from Martha Nelson to Ariel Mollidrem:

AASEN FAMILY

ANNA CHRISTENSDATTER HALLA AASEN

"Anne Christensdatter Halla Aasen was born Mar. 4, 1830 in Ringsaker's Prestegield in Brøttum, Norway. Her parents were Christen and Johanne Halla. Her occupation was that of a dress-maker. She went out into homes to sew and was often called upon to prepare the bride's trousseau. She was married about the year 1849 in Brøttum, Norway to Ole Aasen. Ten (10) children were born to this union, the first child dying in infancy. The names and the dates of birth of the children are as follows:

1 Ingeborg	Jan. 2, 1852	6 Tonethe	Jan. 18, 1863
2 Christine	Mar. 20, 1854	7 Lise	Nov. 1, 1866
3 Ole	Mar. 18, 1856	8 Christian	Mar. 2, 1870
4 Johanne	Mar. 11, 1858	9 Bernt	Sept. 26, 1872
5 Mathias	Oct. 22, 1860

Anne Aasen in company with her husband and five youngest children came to America in the year 1879. The family settled in the town of Alden, Polk County, Wisconsin where she lived until the time of her death. She passed away June 28, 1889 having been confined to her bed with rheumatism for about seven years. She was buried in the West Immanuel Cemetery."

OLE AASEN

"Ole Aasen was born Sept. 4, 1820 in Brøttum, Norway. His parents were Ole and Ingeborg Aasen. His occupation was that of Gaardbruger, or farmer. About the year 1849 he married Anne Christensdatter Halla in Brøttum, Norway. In 1879 he emigrated to America with his wife and five youngest children, the four oldest having previously left Norway for America. He settled in the town of Alden, Polk County, Wisconsin, where he took a homestead of forty acres. Here he lived up to the time of his death on February 2, 1902 at the age of 81 years, 4 months, and 28 days, his death being due to Alterdom's Saghed or infirmities of old age. He was buried in the West Immanuel Cemetery, (Alden Township, Polk, Co., Wis.)

(Following letter dated Jan. 1, 1931, from Martha Nelson)

"Ingeborg (your grandmother, Mrs. Peter Larson) and Christine (Mrs. L. Lyksett) came to America first. They left Christiana (Oslo) April 30 and reached Orfordville, Rock Co. Wis. June 2. Then the next ones to come over were Ole and Johanne (my mother). They left Christiana June 1 and arrived in Orfordville, Wis. June 21, 1877, so it took them exactly 3 weeks. They came across the ocean in a steamship and landed at Quebec. Aunt Christina worked for a family in Orfordville, and the family for whom she worked (Amun Tollefsrud) paid for my mother's ticket and she worked at this same place for one year to pay for her ticket. Mother thinks Ingeborg and Christine came a couple of years before she came. Then a couple years after mother and Ole had come here, the rest of the family came--grandfather, grandmother, Mathias, Tonethe, Lise, Christian, and Bernt. They came to New Richmond, Wis. My mother was working in New Richmond then and met them at the depot. They all walked to Star Prairie (5 miles). Then Grandma Aasen and Bernt, the youngest child, stayed at Martin Olson's, a Norwegian family, that night, and my mother went with the others and they walked on up to Myrehaugens, 7 miles farther (your mother's old home) and reached there about midnight. Then uncle Peter came down to get the others the next day. Mother came back to New Richmond with him and he got the baggage, and then stopped to get the rest of the family at Star Prairie--had a team and a lumber wagon. Mother says they came a couple years after she came (1877).

Shortly after their arrival grandfather secured the homestead of 40 acres in the town of Alden, Polk county, Wisconsin, where they lived until their deaths. As near as I can find out, they came because of the opportunities which they had heard the new country afforded. They took up farming--tilling the soil upon their arrival here. They endured hardships at first, but I cannot give any details about their experience."

(Letter dated Jan. 2, 1931, Martha Nelson)

Journey of Matt. Olson (Aasen) and others across Ocean

They left Christiania, crossed the North Sea to Hull, England, then went by train across England to Liverpool; then by steamship belonging to "Alan Linien" across the Atlantic and landed at Quebec.

A fearful storm raged for 3 days while they were on the ocean. For two days no passengers were allowed on deck. The third day the storm subsided somewhat and some of the passengers ventured on deck, but the billows struck the ship with such force that many were knocked down (fik sighet gedt styrtehad).

At night they slept in "haengekøier" one for each person. They somewhat resembled the swings on porches (hamocks). These were quite comfortable to sleep in especially in stormy weather, as they did not feel the rocking of the boat so much in them.

(Letter of Martha Nelson, April 5, 1933)

Johanne Aasen

"Johanne Aasen was born Mar. 11, 1858 in Brøttum, Norway. Her parents were Ole and Anne Aasen. She attended the school in the neighborhood. Children were not admitted to the school before reaching the age of eight (8) years. At the age of twelve she began working. Her first work was to care for two children. After being confirmed in the Norwegian Lutheran Church in a class of one hundred three, she worked at a place called "skog". At this place three girls were employed. Each girl worked in the kitchen one week at a time by turns. Other duties were carding wool, spinning yarn, weaving cloth for clothing, helping in the fields with haying and harvesting, digging potatoes, milking cows and goats, and helping shear the sheep. She worked at this place about four years.

In 1877 she came to America in company with her brother Ole. They left Christiania Norway June 1st, and reached Oxfordville, Rock County, Wisconsin June 21st, exactly three weeks after starting their journey. Here Johanne worked at a place known as "Tellefarud". She worked for this family one year to pay for her ticket from Norway to America. She came to Star Prairie in 1878 and worked in New Richmond and Star Prairie prior to her marriage to Louis C. Nelson Dec. 28, 1881. They took up their residence in Star Prairie, Wisconsin. To this union the following children were born:

Martha	Dec. 20, 1882
August	Sept. 11, 1884
Frank	Aug. 10, 1887
Laura	Mar. 22, 1894

The children all attended the Star Prairie School. Frank and Laura graduated from the New Richmond High School.

"Martha began teaching at the age of seventeen, having passed the examinations in the subjects required for a Third Grade Certificate. Her later education was received in the River Falls Normal School. She graduated from the River Falls Normal School and attended one summer session at the University of Minnesota. Her teaching experience included work in rural schools and state graded schools. For seven years she had the principalship at the State Public School for Dependent and Neglected Children at Sparta, Wisconsin. At the beginning of her eighth year in this position (in the fall of 1931) it became necessary for her to resign in order to come home to care for her mother who was then in poor health.

"August worked on several farms. He was interested in harness and shoe repairing and did some work along this line. He was also interested in caprenter work and constructed several articles for use in the home and on the farm. He owned quite a large collection of tools for working with leather and also had a collection of carpenter tools. He was failing in health for several years and passed away Aug. 22, 1925.

His death was due to Bright's Disease. He was buried in the Huntington Cemetery (near Star Prairie).

Mr. Louis C. Nelson passed away May 29, 1925, just 3 months preceeding August's death. He was also buried in the Huntington Cemetery.

the following statement dated Oct. 12, 1907 in Register's
Office, Polk Co., Wis.)

"I, the undersigned, for the purpose of changing my name do make this statement and declaration.

My present name is Oscar Robert Larson.

My present post office address is Nye, Polk County, State of Wisconsin. My present place of residence is in the Town of Alden, Polk County, Wisconsin, my residence being situated about four miles South east of said above named post office. I was born in the year 1884 in the Town of Alden Polk County Wisconsin, which has been my place of residence ever since and it is my present residence, except that I have been occasionally away from said town to work during the last three years. The name I wish to assume, and do hereby assume, is Oscar Robert Myre and I own no real estate in Wisconsin or in any other place.

My reasons for changing my name are the following: That there are so many persons named Oscar Robert Larson, in the neighborhood where I live and where I have been to work, that I have frequently got my mail mixed up, with other peoples mail, who have had the same name.

In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 12th. day of October 1907 in the presence of two witnesses.

Well Known Life Insurance Agent Passes
Away at Northern Hospital

O. W. Ireland, at one time a life insurance agent in this city, died about 10 o'clock Monday night at the Northern State Hospital for the Insane. Deceased was widely known here and was highly esteemed. He was born in Maine sixty-six years ago. In August, 1901, Mr. Ireland suffered a collapse and was taken to the hospital for treatment, and while his life was prolonged he never fully recovered. His death was due to acetoneemia, a morbid condition of the blood. Previous to his removal to the hospital he resided at 518 Washington street. His second wife lived in the Washington street residence until a few weeks ago when she went to Kenosha. Deceased is survived by his wife and three children, two of whom are by his second wife. The daughter by his first wife is Mrs. J. J. Jerome of Toledo, O. Mr. Ireland was agent here for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company and later for the Banker's Life Insurance company. Deceased was a member of the Masonic order and belonged to the Centennial lodge of this city. The Masons will have charge of the funeral, but the arrangements are not complete as yet.

Mr. Halla was among the earliest settlers of Yankton county coming here in 1868 when he filed on a homestead northwest of Mission Hill. He was a bachelor then and lived on his homestead until he had proven up on it. He then returned to Norway where he married. After remaining in Norway for a few years Mr. and Mrs. Halla and family came directly to Yankton county arriving here in 1886. She had thus been a resident of the community for 44 years and is one of the heads of pioneer families. Mrs. Halla's (sic. - Mr.) death occurred about eight years ago.

Yankton County Farmer Succumbs After Months of Illness

After months of illness death came to Chris Halla, 53 year old farmer, well known throughout this part of the state, Easter Sunday morning at his farm home just north of the state hospital.

Born at Ringsaker, Norway, August 19, 1878, he lived in Norway until his eighth year when his parents with their family came to Yankton county, Dakota Territory, and this has been his home continuously since.

About a year ago he was forced to give up active work because of illness and about eight months ago upon being examined at the Mayo Hospital in Rochester it was discovered he was the victim of cancer in advanced stage. His courage and patience since learning of his true condition and the inevitability of the end have been remarkable. He leaves his wife and two children, Mildred, aged 13, and John, aged 10.

He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Louie Levison, Viborg, and Mrs. Harry Fisk, Kansas City, and four brothers, Carl, Washington, D.C.; Theodore, of Thunderhawk, S.D.; Henry, Tyndall; and Conrad, of Yankton county.
